

The National Good Food Network + Community Food Enterprise

Marty Gerencer, NGFN Manager

John Fisk, Director, Wallace Center

Jeff Farbman, Program Associate

NGFN Vision

Advance regional, collaborative efforts to move good food healthy, green, fair, affordable food into larger scale markets.

- More producers benefit
- More communities have viable economies and greater access to good food
- A greater number of acres are managed through sustainable practices.

NGFN Means

- Act as networking, communications, and information hub
  - Both for-profit and non-profit
  - E.g. newsletter, food safety coordinator, webinars, case studies, people and knowledge database ...
- Stimulate development of on-the-ground nodes of regional work
  - Invest in groups and collaborative efforts engaged in scaling up aggregation and sales of good food
